

2018 has been a scary and uncertain year for the Gordons.

Aldene survived six chemos and a hysterectomy in her battle with Stage IIIa ovarian cancer, discovered in February. Now in remission, she is now on a very expensive maintenance drug that costs $15,500.00/month.

Due to the state of the nuclear industry and his company's outlook, Barry is essentially retired as a "part time as needed employee".

Barry's job change,, though not of his choosing, allows more 'quality time' at home during the week.

Aldene relaxes with a quilt made by friend Laura Hack

Line of folks up the stairs waiting to talk to Barry about Carnegie Mellon University at the Silicon Valley College Fair

April - Aldene and Barry went to Phoenix with the the Corrosion 2018

Aldene and Barry at Cat's Hill Bike Race that they staged from their house with many volunteers from Los Gatos Bicycle Racing Club.

Visiting MIM, Musical Instrument Museum in Phoenix, was a highlight.

Haley with grapes grown at her house in Ben Lomond

October - finally back on bikes in Pacific Grove

Love to all, Aldene and Barry